A writer can be anybody who mostly uses written words to communicate or pass important ideas using different styles and techniques. Writers can utilize the knowledge of creative writing to produce books, plays, poetry, novels, songs, and essays which can be very significant for the public in enlightenment. Media have greatly assisted the writers to publish their texts. There is a range of writers including those that are skilled and are able to put ideas in a good explanation. Some are capable of listing very important cultural content contribution to the societies.

A writer can as well be defined as the development of written a language and various writers can operate in oral tradition. Writers will always talk with people within the community, know their problems, and record them in texts and later publish them in the media.

Some genres to which a writer can flow in may involve fictional and non-fictional. In contrast, other writers use graphical illustration as well as multimedia to pass their important information or ideas. The civil together with government readers have put a demand for the work of non-fictional writers since their skills are understandable and the documents are interpretive of a scientific kind.

Writers can use images while conveying information, i.e. graphic painting and drawing, or even multimedia to support their message of writing. A writer is capable of passing information via music or by use of words.

A writer uses their own written works as well explaining how they write (ways they use), reasons for what they write (what it motivates them), and commenting on other writer's work (criticism). The writer uses their skills of knowledge to get income. However, some of the writers like to freelance without immediate payment (accepting advance payment) or even they might opt to wait until their work has been published.

However, the key motivation for a writer is payment. Most of the writers depend on the texts they write to earn income for their daily life. But, some of the writers do not get paid for their work.

A writer is always the author of the book (synonym). Writers may choose writing to be their career or may change in accordance with the situations. An example in this is historian William Dalrymple who started from the field of travel literature and ended up with genre of journalism. Most writers have produced non-fiction and fiction using both genres. Some writers can write things that occurred in a real-life and not just fictional. They often do this by replacing the names of those characters affected by the event that occurred.

Writers have motivated people and made life a better place to be and just think about the world without writers

Title : Do this as a blogger to win more traffic..

Organization : Jeremiah Alex

Word press has made it easy to start a blog. After you have created a blog as a blogger, the next challenge is getting more clients to earn you more money. Don't feel as if it is difficult to get more traffic to your blog since in this article I will be listing some important as well as tested practices you can use to increase your blog traffic.

I believe you are very much ready to get more clients. Let's get in.

1. Know your users before creating an audience profile

Just sit down and get to know the audience you are targeting and what they may want from your blog. You may consider these statements:

- The audience you are targeting
- Some problems they might be going through and can you really try to help them out?
- information or content they are expecting from you

- Can they find answers from your site?

2. Understand the keyword you will be using in your content

A keyword is very significant in that, it helps you to know what the visitors key in Google search engine to get results they want. Ensure you get to know the terms visitors use, try to get content ideas mostly used in search terms, who are you competing with? Ensure to know them and try to be as unique as possible to beat them

3. Make an editable calendar

Editable calendar (game plan) comes in after you have felt you are overwhelmed by many angles of keywords and at a point you get confused. Use tools like Trello or Asana which comes with good features to help you remain calm and play with your keywords well

4. Is your content comprehensive and useful?

The users and the search engines will always consider useful content with good details and this reminds you to choose a topic that goes hand in hand with the details(pillar content). I want you to consider this information when developing pillar articles:

- Pillar content may be of any type ranging from: opinions, comparisons article, listicle, tutorial and many more
- Pillar content is very important compared to other articles since it considers in-depth content
- The pillar articles don't fade with time since they are useful every time but it is always recommended that you can change or update the information to cope with searches at the top results

5. Your content should be readable

- Consider the readability score using readability checkers.
- Use short paragraphs that do not make your visitors get tired easily,
- Consider the fonts you are using, should be large and well-spaced.
- Grammar checker should be your close friend. It helps you to see your grammar level,
- Ensure to use videos, images, graphics, screenshots, and many more visual elements.

6. Lastly use SEO

You don't have to be a guru in using SEO but you can learn to use it slowly using online tutorials and I recommend you to learn step by step using this website's complete SEO word press guide for beginners.

Importance of Education in the Society

Education can be termed as social institution which brings together societies and instills knowledge, skills for job and values for cultural norms. Lately, education is considered the basic requirement for every person to cope up with evolving world. Without education there are a lot of things life will not favor you. The following statements are explaining the benefits of education make sure you read them carefully.

It has created a lot of employment opportunities.

To get a job at this hour of economic difficulties you need education. Every time you will compete with many candidates in job adverts. Therefore, if your education certificates are of low-level, there will be junked applications of the same vacant position by candidates of same qualifications. If you have high qualifications your chances to get a job is very high. This calls for you to start aiming for good qualifications.

Skills to solve daily problems

The key significance of education is teaching us with ways to come up with ideas of tackling personal problems. The more you grow, challenges in life comes your way and some may include; getting a job, paying loans you took, anxiety to buy a car, meet the needs of your family, etc. if you studied and have education all this problems will be solved effectively.

Changing the status of economy

With good education you will get good job and better salary. This will enable you to face economies of life without fear

To live good and respected life

Societies respect educated people since they add value in every day's activities. Thus, you earn a good reputation among your people. This can be considered as giving back to the community.

Empowerment in the community

Educated people with good jobs develop companies to employ youths. This will help to reduce the rate of idleness in the community.

Organization : Jeremiah Alex

Abstract

It is important to be aware of climate change effects within our eco system. This research study is focusing on Climate change effects on agriculture and environment. Have you being wondering as to why farmers recently are incurring losses in their farm produces?. Stay in this article to understand the concepts of adaptation and mitigation measures against the changing climate. This research is based on community interview, questionnaires, surveys, experiments, case studies and participant and non-participant observation. However, participant and non-participant observation with community interview questionnaires yielded very impressive results to which the communities facing severe effects of climate change should start practicing. It is no longer a joke issue since the farmers have realized the reasons as to why most of them are saving less compared to input resources. By the end of this research thesis, you will be fully equipped with best choices to fight climate change.

Introduction

Climate change can be defined with simple terms as a change in weather pattern including temperature and rainfall in given region over long period of time. Scientists across the globe have been researching and concluded that, the earth's climate have been changing even long before humans came into picture. However, research shows that the earth's average temperature has been increasing much more quickly than they would expect over the past 150 years. When the whole Earth's temperature changes by one or 2 degrees, that change can have big impacts on the health's plants and animals, too. (Climate kids.www.climatekids.nasa.com.January 14th, 2021. DYING WITH DIGNITY 2

To,
Rep. Tom O'Halleran,

A representative for Arizona's 1 st District
Arizona, United States
16 th Sept 2020.

Dear Mr. O'Halleran,

I am writing concerning the current Arizona Euthanasia Laws that prohibit the practice of mercy killing, loosely referred to as death with dignity, but allows for the withholding of artificial life support specific to certain conditions such as in the power of the Attorney. There is a need for a change in this current policy. The change will allow for the nurses and other health practitioners, through the request of the patient and their families, to conduct death with dignity in Arizona when the conditions are not in their favor.

I am suggesting for the federal legislators to look into it that euthanasia methods are made legal in health facilities, mostly in intensive care units. Assisted suicide or mercy killing, as it is referred to here in Arizona, is currently considered murder and liable for prosecution. However, looking at the benefits that this policy comes with concerning the withholding of life support, euthanasia allows for the discontinuation of rising hospital bills, ending of pain, and terminal illness that seems eternal. The only cost implication will be on the patients, and their families who will have the hospitalization costs reduced. The change will not have extensive costs on the part of the state or federal governments. The change agents in this legally and medically approved operation will be registered nurses. Their primary role will be to take instructions and directions from the professional physicians in charge of the respective care units for which the patients will be. The policy will be one of the significant changes in the health sector in Arizona for the families and patients who would wish to partake in the procedures for their benefit. Thank you in advance for any help offered towards this policy change.

Yours Sincerely,
